

- Is it accurate to say that kinky sex or some kinds of adult porn are still criminalized in Canada today? Should they be?
- Is participation in kinky sex different from other activities that carry significant risk of bodily harm such as playing sports or getting cosmetic surgery?

What do you make of Khan's argument sexual harms are viewed as more traumatizing and qualitatively different than other types of harms, because of their putative political, symbolic, psychic or physiological effects? Does this ring true? Should this be the case?

Was the JA case correctly decided?
Do you agree with Khan's assessment that "this ruling exemplifies paternalism and a sex negativity that understands that protection from the risk of sexual assault is more important than freedom to engage in desired sexual activities?"