

CENTRE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS RESEARCH, UNIVERSITY OF MANITOBA
First annual report to Senate Committee on University Research
2013-14

Interdisciplinary (Type II) Research Centre
Report prepared by Helen Fallding, Manager

MISSION STATEMENT

The Centre for Human Rights Research brings together people and organizations – both within and outside the University of Manitoba – to enhance interdisciplinary and collaborative research capacity, create richer training opportunities for students, and facilitate the fusion of research-driven knowledge, public policy and intellectual debate on issues related to human rights and social justice. The centre aims to facilitate research that is both academically rigorous and accessible to the public.

Objectives and functions: remain the same as when the centre was established in 2012.

DIRECTOR: Prof. Karen Busby

Prof. Karen Busby's research interests include laws connected to sex, sexuality, and violence and on the human right to safe drinking water. Her current research is on human rights laws affecting lesbian, gay, bi-sexual and trans-identified (LGBT) people; surrogacy contracts; religious freedom and child protection laws. She is also the principal investigator on a $200,000 partnership development grant from the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada on the right to clean water in First Nations.

Busby was an active participant in litigation and law reform efforts on sexual assault, legal recognition of same-sex relationships and challenges to laws on bawdy houses/indecency, age of consent and gender identity. She has worked on numerous research projects on gendered violence, including sexual assault, girls involved in prostitution, sexual expression, and the implementation of civil domestic violence legislation. Prof. Busby appeared as counsel in the Supreme Court of Canada in the Little Sisters case about the discriminatory treatment of LGBT bookstores by Canada Customs. She teaches constitutional law, administrative law, and gender and the law.

Busby was a member the Women's Legal Education and Action Fund (LEAF) national legal committee from 1992-1997 and she remains on the LEAF Assisted Human Reproduction sub-committee and sexual assault case sub-committees. She also served on the board of Egale Canada (2003-08), a national organization representing LGBT folks. Prof. Busby has been on the review panel established under Manitoba's Vulnerable Persons Living with Mental Disabilities Act since 2001. She served on the board of governors of the Winnipeg Art Gallery from 2000-2009.

Prof. Busby has received numerous awards recognizing her human rights work, including a YWCA Women of Distinction award, and awards from the Manitoba and Canadian bar associations. She was inducted in 2011 into the Q (Queer) Hall of Fame.

- It is increasingly difficult to fulfill existing project commitments with only a half-time office assistant.
- CHRR was spared budget cuts in 2014-15. However, the research centre will need to cancel its small grants program and reduce programming within a couple of years if subjected to the budget cut anticipated in 2015-16. This is unfortunate at a time when the new centre is gaining momentum and Winnipeg is becoming an internationally recognized centre for human rights research and education.
- The university's capital campaign has the potential to raise endowment funds that could give CHRR long-term stability. However, the campaign has not yet produced any specific commitments towards CHRR operating costs.
